Sooner Tradition

Winning is an attitude that permeates the entire University of Oklahoma athletics program. Championships and postseason play are synonymous with pratically every Sooner sport.

Over the last 10 years no OU program has accomplished more than the softball team. The architect - head coach Patty Gasso - needed just five years before she took her team to the pinnacle of the sport. And OU hasn't dropped from elite territory since.

Gasso and company have created a tradition that rivals nearly any program in collegiate softball and it has only taken 10 years.

During that span OU has averaged 49 wins a season and won - on average - 75 percent of its contests.

It's no wonder the Sooners have risen to national prominence so quickly.

:: THE ARCHITECT

The OU senior woman administrator at the time - Marita Hynes - took a major risk when she chose Patty Gasso to lead the softball program in 1995. Gasso was a successful junior college coach at Long Beach City College without any ties to the Midwest, let alone Oklahoma.

Gasso jumped at the opportunity and immediately began attracting top athletes from each coast and everywhere in between. Players like Kansas native Lisa Carey (below) and California native Norrelle Dickson (right) were given the chance to shine in the Sooner spotlight and are perfect examples of players from different backgrounds who have become some of the biggest names in the sport.

:: DEFINING MOMENT >>

The program's defining moment came in its first trip to the Women's College World Series in 2000. The Sooners came away victorious. Since then, they have run the streak of WCWS appearances to five and have become one of the most recognizable teams in the sport.

Postseason Pride

Five. Five. 20-1.

The numbers tell the story of the Oklahoma softball program's dramatic rise into elite company.

The Sooners have made five consecutive Women's College World Series. No other team east of Pac 10 country has ever been to five consecutive WCWS. Their current streak is the third best in the country behind Cal and UCLA (6).

OU qualified for the national championship tournament by winning five consecutive NCAA Regional Championships. They have proved themselves on their home field and on opposite ends of the country.

During that run to five straight WCWS, no team has been more efficient in its efforts. Patty Gasso's troops have gone 20-1 in regionals over the last five seasons, which includes a 19-game winning streak. Whether it's eliminating Texas and defeating Cat Osterman or traveling to Florida or knocking off No. 1 Arizona on their home field, the Sooners have been dominant in the regional format.

Since current head coach Patty Gasso stepped onto campus in 1995, the Sooners have won two Big 12 Tournaments, five NCAA Regional Championships and qualified for five WCWS.

That is a run that is unparalleled by any program east of Arizona and one that can only be matched by a few out west.

2000 National Championship

The University of Oklahoma earned its first-ever softball national championship by beating UCLA, 3-1, in front of a Women's College World Series record crowd of 8,049 at Don E. Porter Hall of Fame Stadium in Oklahoma City on May 29, 2000.

The title was the first by a women's athletic program at Oklahoma. The Sooners finished the season with the best record in the country at 66-8.

Oklahoma, the third seed in the WCWS, got on the scoreboard in the third inning with a two-run home run from All-American first baseman Lisa Carey. It was the second homer in as many days for the junior as her solo shot versus Arizona in the semifinals lifted the Sooners to the title game.

Center fielder Erin Evans, who knocked a single to left field for her second hit of the game, scored ahead of Carey. The shot was Carey's 20th of the year and tied the OU single-season record which was set in 1999 by Lynette Velazquez.

The inning continued when right fielder Andrea Davis singled to right field. Pinch runner Jaime White advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by junior All-American Ashli Barrett. Designated player Mandy Fulton followed Barrett's bunt with one of her own, placing runners on second and third with two outs. Freshman shortstop Kelli Braitsch then nailed a single to left field, driving in White for the 3-0 lead.

The Bruins tightened the game with a run of their own in the bottom of the sixth inning. Freshman Natasha Watley reached on an infield single and then moved to third on a Julie Adams single to right-center field. Watley scored on a sacrifice fly by UCLA catcher Julie Marshall, but OU pitcher Jennifer Stewart promptly recorded her only strikeout of the game on the next batter to end the inning.

Stewart earned the World Series Most Outstanding Player award, earning victories in all four of OU's WCWS wins. Carey and Braitsch joined Stewart on the all-tournament team.

OU became just the second non-West Coast team to win a softball national championship.

:: THE SHOT HEARD 'ROUND OKLAHOMA >>

OU All-American Lisa Carey's two-run home run (right) in the 2000 National Championship game instantly became the program's greatest individual moment. The blast gave the Sooners the decisive 3-1 lead and eventually sealed the program's first national championship.

Big 12 Supremacy

Just nine years into its existence, the Big 12 has vaulted to the top of intercollegiate athletics. A regular player in the determination of the national championships, the conference offers its more than 4,000 student-athletes that rare opportunity to compete in the national spotlight year in and year out.

No Big 12 softball member has seen that spotlight shine more brightly in its direction than the Oklahoma program.

The Sooners have been on the national stage for the Women's College World Series the last five years. Those five appearances are more than the four combined trips of the rest of the conference teams since the Big 12's inception in 1996. In fact, Nebraska is the only other team to make at least two trips to the WCWS during that time frame.

It doesn't stop there though.

OU has more NFCA All-Americans than the rest of the conference. The nation's coaches have voted 17 Sooners onto the NCAA's elite teams. Only two other teams - Nebraska with 11 and Texas with 10 - can claim to have double-digit All-Americans during the Big 12 era.

The Sooners lead the pack in All-Big 12 First Team selections as well.

They also pace the conference in all-time winning percentage.

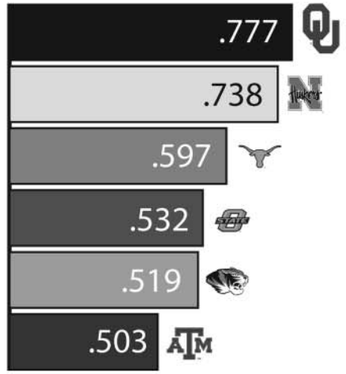
The list goes on and on (ie... postseason appearances, overall record).

OU set the standard by winning the first Big 12 Championship in 1996. They upped the ante' in 2000 when they won the conference's only national title. Now, the Sooners continue to pace the league and raise the bar with four return trips and a bevy of honors along the way.

:: TITLE TALK ::

Oklahoma has claimed the Big 12 Regular Season Championship on three occasions - 1996, 1999, 2000 - while the Sooners have claimed the Big 12 Tournament Championship twice - 1996 and 2001.

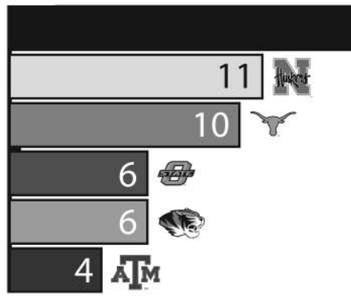
The Sooners' work in the Bedlam Series is even more impressive. Since the official start of the Bank of Oklahoma Bedlam Series presented by your Local Ford Dealers (2001), the trophy hasn't left Norman. OU has won it outright three of the four years and retained it after a split in 2003. Since the start of Big 12 play, OU has done no worse than a split with Oklahoma State in the regular season series, while claiming the series in seven of nine years.



<< BIG 12 WINNING PERCENTAGE ::

OU head coach Patty Gasso came on board in 1995 and one year later the Big 12 was born. Since season one, the Sooners have proved to be the class of the conference. They won the first regular season title, they were the first to 50 wins and the first to 100 wins. It's no wonder they lead the conference in all-time winning percentage (illustrated on the left). Below is a look at OU's year-by-year record in Big 12 play.

Year	Record	Finish
1996	17-5	Big 12 Regular Season Champions
1997	14-4	Second
1998	12-5	Second
1999	11-3	Big 12 Regular Season Champions
2000	17-1	Big 12 Regular Season Champions
2001	14-2	Second
2002	14-2	Second
2003	12-6	Fourth
2004	11-7	Fifth



<< BIG 12 ALL-AMERICANS ::

The Sooners have certainly made their mark on the Big 12 scene, but they haven't stopped there. OU has raked in more national and regional honors than any other Big 12 program (All-America honors illustrated to the left). No area better emphasizes that distinction than All-Americans. Below is a list of the 17 OU All-Americans during the Big 12 era:

Year	Player	Team
1996	Jill Most	Third Team

Individual Honors

With team accomplishments comes individual recognition. That adage has held true with the Oklahoma softball program, which has raked in just about every honor out there.

Start with the coaching staff. OU head coach Patty Gasso, the architect of the Sooners' move to the top of the softball world, has been named the Big 12 Coach of the Year three times - 1996, 1999, 2000. Gasso and her staff were named Speedline/NFCA Division I National Coaching Staff of the Year in 2000 after claiming the National Championship. The OU coaching staff has also garnered the NFCA Midwest Region Coaching Staff of the Year award on five occasions - 1996, 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2004.

Since the start of Big 12 play, OU players have accumulated more honors than any other conference member. The list starts with All-Americans, of which OU has 17. At the regional level 35 players have landed on the Midwest team. Among the Big 12 ranks, 34 softballers have notched First Team conference awards. Add in four Big 12 Players of the Year, two Freshman of the Year, one Newcomer of the Year, one Defensive Player of the Year, 26 Players of the Week and 17 Pitchers of the Week and the list becomes overbearing.

The softball program has always produced well-rounded athletes and the academic honors don't take a backseat. In 2000 Lana Moran became the first Sooner in any sport to garner the Academic All-American of the Year (see note on right). Six student-athletes have been named Academic All-Americans. Eight have earned Academic All-District recognition. A total of 36 were named Academic All-Big Eight and already 37 have earned Academic All-Big 12 acclaim. Most recently four freshmen were named NFCA Scholar Athletes.

Below is list of the (active) awards claimed by the OU softball program:

	All-Time	Big 12 Era

THREE-TIME BIG 12 COACH OF THE YEAR PATTY GASSO AND TWO-TIME ALL-AMERICAN JENNIFER STEWART.

:: DEFINITION OF A STUDENT-ATHLETE <^>

Oklahoma pitcher Lana Moran took the term "student-athlete" to new heights with her 2000 Academic All-American of the Year recognition. The lone senior on the 2000 National Championship team, Moran captained the team as she tallied a 26-2 mark with five shutouts. Moran's biggest achievement came in the classroom where the San Bernardino, Calif., native compiled a 3.88 GPA in sociology. Moran was a two-time GTE first team Academic All-American, a four time Academic All-Big 12 selection and the first Sooner in any sport to be named Academic All-American of the Year.

USA Influence

The phone in Oklahoma head coach Patty Gasso's office rang three different times. Each time the USA Elite Team selection committee was on the other end. Each time they wanted Gasso to gauge the interest one of her players' would have in playing for the 2004 Elite Team.

After the third call, Gasso sat in her office and pondered what had happened over the last month. During that span, three Sooners had been invited (and accepted) to play in the First World University Softball Championships as members of the USA Elite Team, which only ranks behind the Olympic Team. Three Sooners were on the 16 player team, which was a first for any team at OU and only the fourth time any softball program had placed that many players on the squad at the same time.

It was just another sign that OU was among collegiate softball's creme de la creme but it still took some time hit Gasso.

Sooner players have been called on before. Senior Kami Keiter (below) and senior Heather Scaglione (top right) were rookies this summer. Sophomore Norrelle Dickson (middle), on the other hand, has played in five tournaments with the Elite squad. Junior Kristin Vesely played for the USA Junior National Team before her freshman year and alum Leah Gulla (2000-03) was part of the most recent Olympic Trials. Additionally, senior Christina Enea and alums Kelli Braitsch and Lisa Carey have received a number of tryouts.

Sooner softball has carved its niche into USA Softball and Gasso should be ready for future calls.

USA Softball

Sooners In The Pros

As the sport of softball has risen in popularity over the last decade, the number of opportunities for collegiate athletes to play following their career has skyrocketed.

The Sooners have watched numerous alums graduate to the professional ranks. As far back as Jill Most, Jennfier Jaime and Lynnette Velasquez, OU has made an impact on the highest stage of softball.

More recently during the Inaugural National Pro Fastpitch College Draft, three former Sooners were selected. Erin Evans made the most of her opportunity as an All-Star for the Houston Thunder, who had the best record during the league's first season. Leah Gulla and Christy Ring were also drafted by Colorado in the first NPF draft.

With the Jan. 31 draft quickly approaching, it is expected three of OU's seniors will be heavily considered. The trio of All-Americans - Kami Keiter, Christina Enea and Heather Scaglione - could be among the first players taken. They will have to wait until the completion of the NCAA season before they can join the pro ranks.

Media Attention

The Women's College World Series has been the biggest event in Oklahoma over Memorial Day weekend for the last few years.

The Oklahoma softball team capitalized on that exposure by winning in its first trip to the WCWS in 2000. Five years later, and four addition 28 mile trips north to Oklahoma City, and the Sooners are one of collegiate softball's most recognizable programs.

Patty Gasso's squad enjoys more coverage than arguaby any program in teh country. The unique media landscape in Oklahoma (check note on page 15) has something to do with that. Five straight WCWS ahs been a bigger influence.

Perhaps nothing better illustrates the softball program's rise than a June, 2004 story in the largest paper in the state, The Oklahoman.

Columnist Jenni Carlson boldly proclaimed head coach Patty Gasso as the best coach at the University. Carlson ranked Gasso's achievements above those of football coach Bob Stoops, basketball coaches Kelvin Sampson and Sherri Coale and gymnastics coach Mark Williams. One opinion sparked argument throughout the state.

Gasso couldn't buy publicity that good.

But she and her teams' have certainly earned it.

<< TAKING CENTER STAGE ::

Being a major Division I athletics program in a state without a high scale professional team has its advantages. Oklahoma athletics receive more coverage than any other entity in the state.

Sooner softball receives a big slice of that coverage. Behind football and the basketball programs, softball and baseball are next on the food chain. The fact that softball and baseball are on the same level at OU says a lot about the success of Patty Gasso's program.

The media attention peaked to a near all-time high last season (just short of the 2000 national championship season) when the Sooners advanced out of the toughest regional in the country, in the process knocking off No. 1 Arizona and No. 9 Louisiana-Lafayette. The Sooners were not only the biggest story in Oklahoma, but they stole the spotlight on the national level of collegiate softball.

To the left are copies of front page stories that were run by local newspapers The Norman Transcript and The Oklahoman during and leading up to the Sooners post-season run.

Patty Gasso

A pioneer and legend after 10 years. Better believe it.

Oklahoma head coach Patty Gasso has blazed the trail for the Big 12, which has quickly gained national softball respect in just nine years of existence. No person has been more responsible for the conference rise in prominence than the winningest coach in its history.

With five consecutive trips to the Women's College World Series, OU has not only earned respect but validated an entire conference.

Her work at OU has done more than just net gains for her employers and league.

The Midwest was a dormant recruiting area when she arrived in 1995. Presently, the Midwest and South (especially Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Florida) rank a very close second to California.

All that without even mentioning her accomplishments.

In 2003, Oklahoma was named the fifth best program of all-time by the National Fastpitch Coaches Association. Go back to 1994, before Gasso arrived in Norman, and it's a guarantee that OU doesn't even sniff the top-25.

During her tenure, the Sooners have reached the postseason every year. They have claimed five Regional Championships, made five WCWS appearances and claimed one national championship.

Not many coaches around the land can claim those credentials. Then again, if you tally the combined accomplishes of many conferences, and they can't either.

So what's next? It would be a mistake to say more of the same. This program has risen dramatically for 10 years and Gasso doesn't intend to slow the pace one bit.

Titles like "Coaching Legend" and "Best Coach In Big 12 History" are usually reserved for retired leaders.

In Gasso's case, there is no need to wait, she has already earned both titles.

GASSO AND ASSISTANT COACHES AT THE 2004 NOKIA SUGAR BOWL

GASSO WITH SON AND HUSBAND

MEDIA SAVVY

Coach Gasso understands the role of the media. In fact no one is a better or more willing publicist for the program than she. Whether it's a weekly spot on local radio, or guest commentating on FOX for the Big 12 Tournament, or in-game interviews with ESPN or post game radio interviews, the fact is Gasso has a knack for live broadcasts. Her on-air skills have made her a favorite of local and national outlets alike.

Melyssa Lombardi

The same attributes that drew OU head coach Patty Gasso to Melyssa Lombardi as a player are the reasons that she has excelled as the pitching coach on the Oklahoma staff.

Lombardi is renowned for her work ethic and softball mind.

Watch her give pitching signs to her catchers and you'll quickly learn how complex her mind is.

Listen to Lombardi break down opposing hitters on film or observe her meticulously chart her pitching staff and the work ethic will come beaming through.

Those attributes are innate.

Another one is uncanny... it's the fact that she is a Gasso clone.

The head and assistant coach think on the same wave length and fall just short of finishing each other's sentences.

It's no wonder that Lombardi has been on staff for seven years and despite being one of the hottest head coaching prospects in the country, she has shown little desire to venture out of Norman.

All those traits have translated into one of the nation's best pitching staffs year in and year out.

Three pitchers have garnered four All-America honors under her tutelage and the staff has continually ranked among the best in the Big 12 and country.

The numbers below illustrate where the pitching staffs ranked in the Big 12 and NCAA, as well as the rank of the top pitcher on the respective staffs over the last five seasons:

	Team Big 12/NCAA	Individual Big 12/NCAA
2000	2/25	4/60
2001	4/NR	3/NR
2002	3/18	1/6
2003	3/18	4/12
2004	3/NR	4/46

Howard Dobson

Howard Dobson has quickly made a name for himself in collegiate softball. The time line of his rise to national recognition is impressive.

Dobson began to gain national respect when he arrived at Houston. He was on the first coaching staff for the Cougars in 2000 and helped lead the rookie program to a fifth place finish in Conference USA. Two years later ,he had the Cougar offense at the top of Conference USA with league best marks in hits, runs, slugging percentage, RBI and home runs. That squad ranked 12th in the country in batting average and 30th in runs per game.

When Dobson took the job at Oklahoma, he had to live up to a serious legacy. The OU softball team had led the conference in hitting for three consecutive years.

Dobson's first season saw the Sooners finish second in the batting average race but they topped the conference in runs and slugging percentage while also ranking third in on-base percentage.

He also guided former all-conference player Leah Gulla to First Team All-America status. During the 2003 season, she led the Big 12 in three individual offense categories and ranked second in two others.

In 2004 OU won the Big 12 team batting title and led the conference in nine offensive categories. Heather Scaglione broke through and was hands down the most dominant hitter in the conference. Her work garnered her First Team All-America honors, thanks to leading the Big 12 in five offensive categories.

Yet that wasn't his most impressive work of the year. Dobson was the star of OU's improbable postseason run. Through hours of preparation, he was able to lay out a flawless game plan for the NCAA Regional in Tucson.

OU put together the best offensive numbers among the 64 teams in regionals and soundly defeated the top two pitchers (statistically) in the nation - Alicia Hollowell (Arizona) and Brooke Mitchell (Louisiana-Lafayette).

Sooner Pipeline

Numerous student-athletes have come to Oklahoma hoping to continue their softball career, not just on the field as an NCAA athlete, but as a coach when they finish their careers' in Norman.

OU head coach Patty Gasso has always encouraged her players to be active in the sport when their time as a Sooner has come to a close.

After 10 years with OU, Gasso has proteges sprinkled all over the states. Nine former players are coaching at the collegiate level, as well as two former assistant coaches. Highlighting the collegiate group is 2000 WCWS MVP Jennifer Stewart, who is in her first year as the pitching coach for Big 12 foe Texas Tech. Christy Ring, an OU graduate assistant in 2003, is now a full time assistant with Concordia University in Irvine, Calif. Casey Dickson, who played for Gasso from 1995-97, is entering her third year as the head coach at Frank Phillips Junior College (Texas).

Five other alums are coaching on the high school or travel ball scene. Perhaps the most recognized of the group is Kim Young, who is the head softball coach and director of athletics at Mayfair High School in Calif. 2004 graduate Katie Overton wasted no time before joining the coaching ranks. Soon after the 2004 WCWS, Overton took a job as an assistant coach for the Jitterbugs, a travel ball squad based in Oklahoma City.

Of the 60 players who have earned letters for Coach Gasso in her 10 years, 16 (27 percent) are currently in softball careers as a coach or player. Add in two assistant coaches who have moved on to other opportunities and the OU program is doing its part to continue the development and promotion of softball inside and outside of Oklahoma's borders.

On the next page is a complete list of former Sooners who are currently working in the sport.

OU Softball Complex

Marita Hynes Field at the OU Softball Complex has been one of the sparkling gems of the sport since it opened its doors in 1998.

OU was one of the first schools outside of the Pac 10 to make the commitment to its softball program by building an exclusive facility for the sport. The trend caught on and Oklahoma was again leading the pack in women's athletics as new stadiums have sprung up across the national landscape.

The most recent improvement at the OU Softball Complex was synthetic waterproof dirt on the infield and warning track, which allows Patty Gasso's team to train on the field minutes after a rain storm has moved through.

The complex provides permanent chair back and bleacher seating with a capacity of 1,000; a concessions building and rest rooms; press box; VIP lounge and a ticket office. The complex is equipped with a state-of-the-art underground drainage system, sprinkler system and batting cages.

A paved parking lot was in place in time for the 1999 season and OU added the Robert E. Young & Family Softball Locker Room in 2002. The field was named for former softball coach and senior women's administrator, Marita Hynes, in 2004.

The community of Norman has embraced the program and placed it among the annual national leaders in average attendance. Below are the top-10 single game attendance marks in OU Softball Complex history:

Attendance	Opponent	Date
1. 1,623	Oklahoma State	4/28/04
2. 1,480	Texas	5/18/02

Marita Hynes Field

:: SOFTBALL PIONEER >>

It's a tough task to find a single individual who has had more effect on the collegiate sport of softball and its rise in popularity than Marita Hynes. The longtime senior woman administrator for Oklahoma actually served as the program's second softball coach. When she retired from coaching to begin a career as an administrator, she remained active in the softball world. She spearheaded the fund-raising campaign to build the OU Softball Complex and oversaw its construction. During those years she helped lure the Women's College World Series to Oklahoma City. For all her contributions to OU and beyond, the athletics department officially christened the playing surface as Marita Hynes Field on April 24, 2004.

Sooner Power

Oklahoma's weight training program is a pioneer in the development of strength and conditioning, and is a vital part of the Sooners' traditional success. OU strength and conditioning coaches utilize their expertise along with a wide array of equipment and tests to produce national championship-caliber athletes.

Evaluation, goal-oriented programs, supervision and state-of-the-art facilities help Oklahoma athletes become bigger, faster, stronger and more flexible. The Robin Siegfried & Family Strength and Conditioning Complex, located in the Barry Switzer Center, has 13,000 square feet to facilitate the intensive training of OU athletes.

Jerry Schmidt, director of sports enhancement, says the Complex is a state-of-the-art facility where athletes work closely with five full-time staff members. "Oklahoma recognizes the importance of conditioning, "says Schmidt. "This facility is reflective of that commitment."

The objective of the strength and conditioning program is to ensure each student athlete in every sport is provided with a sound in-season and off-season program. This program of activity includes strength, conditioning, flexibility and nutrition. A strength and conditioning coordinator for each sport is provided to assist athletes in reaching the highest possible training levels.

The OU strength and conditioning staff takes great pride in providing a very intensive program that helps maintain greater overall body strength and conditioning levels during the season. By maintaining strength in the muscles and connective tissues throughout the season, the potential for injuries decreases.

The off-season program is also extremely intensive. Speed, strength, power, agility, fundamentals and nutrition are addressed. The OU staff is committed to full compliance with NCAA rules concerning time allocation for student athletes and voluntary workouts during off-season periods.

The staff's interaction with the nutritional consultants on campus is essential. The staff maintains an open channel of communication with the dining staff at the Jefferson Dining Hall. This interaction enables the strength and conditioning staff to ensure that OU athletes receive a winning edge with a sound nutrition program.

"Our goal is to get the student-athletes in their best condition," says Schmidt. "That condition will give Oklahoma an edge at the end of a game. Top of the line conditioning is what it takes to be a Sooner athlete. Running, lifting and good nutrition must be kept in a balance. All these components must be in place for an athlete to compete at the highest level."

Located at the south end of Oklahoma Memorial Stadium, the Barry Switzer Center houses administrative offices, the football locker room, the equipment room, the 8,000-square-foot Sports Medicine Facility and the 7,000-square-foot Touchdown Club Legends Lobby in addition to the Siegfried Strength and Conditioning Complex.

Sports Medicine

The Oklahoma Athletics Department feels a strong responsibility to help its athletes reach and maintain their optimum health and achieve conditioning goals. For this reason, OU has developed excellent training and conditioning programs to lessen the possibility of injuries. However, should injuries occur, the department is committed to a comprehensive rehabilitation program.

Complete athletically-related medical services are provided to Oklahoma student athletes by team physicians and OU's certified athletic trainers. The University of Oklahoma obtains the services of the best medical consultants available.

The base of operation for the Sooners' medical care is the state-of-the-art Henry J. Freede, M.D. Sports Medicine Center in the Barry Switzer Center.

Head athletic trainer Scott Anderson says the new addition to the Barry Switzer Center has allowed the university to upgrade to a new edition of rehabilitation equipment that can best benefit the student-athletes.

From simple therobands to taping tables, the new facility offers everything a school can have or hope to have. The Sooner training room is equipped to perform isokinetic joint evaluation for preventive medicine and for post-injury rehabilitation. The therapy room is supplied with the latest modalities on the market.

"The addition of space is the greatest benefit," says Anderson. "This space allows for dedicated rehabilitation and consultation to the athletes. A new option with the facility is the water rehabilitation area. The athlete stands in a pool of water that is adjusted to his or her own physical needs. Cameras are then placed where physicians can monitor the progress made by the athlete on his or her road to recovery."

A total team effort is the key to OU's efficiency in preventing, treating and rehabilitating injuries sustained by student-athletes. These measures keep Sooner athletes at their highest level of performance as they compete for championships.

"Sports medicine is a team effort," says Anderson. "The stated goal of athletic training at Oklahoma is, first of all, care for the student-athletes, thereby granting our sports a competitive advantage and ultimately greater esteem for the entire program.

To that end we are blessed with a full complement of self-sacrificing medical professionals working on a regular basis with our athletic training staff."

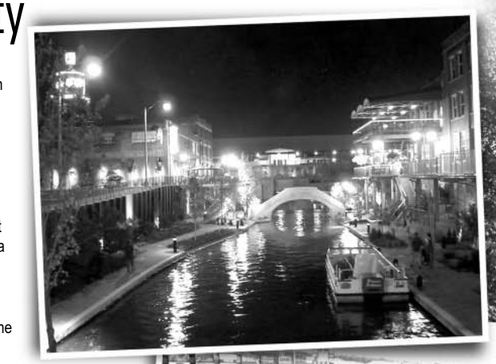
Norman / Oklahoma City

Norman is an ever-changing city of nearly 90,000 residents. Located in the heart of the state, it has grown to become the third largest city in Oklahoma. Despite its continuous growth, it has maintained the spirit and serenity of a small close-knit community.

Since the Oklahoma Land Rush of 1889, Norman has grown into a popular and smart city. The spirit of Norman and its citizens is unwavering and uncompromising. While other towns were clamoring to become the state capital, Norman residents wanted to have the first state university. When the first OU president got off the train and saw a prairie, he saw opportunity.

As home to the state's premier educational institution, Norman boasts an excellent quality of life and is a city that thrives on and celebrates the diversity of its community.

Legendary University of Oklahoma football coach Barry Switzer called Norman "a university town with a championship spirit." Norman continually exhibits its love for sports by hosting numerous local and national athletic events.



The city also showcases local and regional artists in its annual May Fair. In addition, through the university's School of Drama, School of Dance and the School of Music, stage productions are offered year round.

Cultural activities are unlimited in Norman, making it the ideal backdrop for the University of Oklahoma. As home to people of all ethnic and educational backgrounds, the city has something to offer everyone. Norman is home to a variety of enriching events and attractions, including the Sooner Theater, which hosts a series of entertaining theatrical performances produced by locally-based talent and touring companies.

The $44 million Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History, a state-of-the-art facility designed to display a collection of historical and natural science items that trace the southwest's development since prehistoric times, opened in May 2000. History buffs will also enjoy the Cleveland Country Historical House which holds exhibits relating to the development of this area of the state.

For art enthusiasts, the Fred Jones Jr. Memorial Art Center houses permanent collections, nationally and world-renowned traveling exhibits as well as a yearly student art show. The museum has recently added the Weitzenhoffer Collection of French Impressionist paintings -- the single most important gift of art ever given to a U.S. public university.

Multi-screen theaters in Norman offer a wide range of movie options. Community theater and dance performances continue to be a favorite in Norman with productions by several groups. With the Cimarron Circuit Opera Company and the annual Jazz in June celebration, Norman also offers a great opportunity to hear a variety of musical artists on almost any night of the week.

Maintaining a progressive approach to the future while remembering its history, Norman continues to be a well-balanced community, proud to be the home of the University of Oklahoma.

:: OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, the capital of Oklahoma, is located just 18 miles north of the Norman campus. It was the first city settled in the Land Run of 1889 because of its position at the center of the state.

Oklahoma City offers a variety of attractions and activities different from any other place in the country.

Just over a century ago, the site of Oklahoma City was a grass-and-timbered land of gently rolling hills flattening out into prairie in the west. Today, Oklahoma City sprawls across 625 square miles of America's heartland. The city's metro population numbers more than a million -- a third of the entire state's population.

Oklahoma City was born on the afternoon of April 22, 1889, when the central portion of what is now Oklahoma was opened to settlement by presidential proclamation. Thousands crossed the borders of "unassigned lands" at the sound of gunfire at high noon. Never before or since has such a "run" occurred anywhere on the earth.

By the time the dust had settled on that historic day, many people had staked their claim at "Oklahoma Station," an area which was destined to become Oklahoma City. In 1911, Oklahoma City officially became the capital after a statewide election moved the state seal from Guthrie.

Oklahoma City has become a haven for exciting sports action. It is home of two semi-professional sports teams and the host of the NCAA College Softball World Series.

The Oklahoma RedHawks are the Triple-A baseball affiliate of the Texas Rangers. The team plays in the 13,066-seat SBC Bricktown Ballpark, one of the plushest venues in all of minor league sports.

Season Preview

The first order of business in pursuit of a sixth consecutive trip to the Women's College World Series for the Oklahoma softball team is to look back.

The 2004 team was inconsistent during the regular season. The postseason was a different story.

OU was the hottest hitting team in the NCAA postseason and entered the WCWS with arguably more momentum than any team in the field. A couple of bad breaks derailed a team that had finally found its identity.

A combination of preparation, focus and newfound toughness was the catalyst for a team that forced each of its postseason opponents into mistakes.

With eight starters returning, the biggest challenge for OU head coach Patty Gasso and her staff will be channeling that mindset and getting the 2005 team to play with the same intensity they closed last season with.

"We have to play with a sense of urgency," said Gasso. "I was encouraged in the fall because we came out and played smart softball. We did the little things. Taking extra pitches, moving runners up, sacrificing their bodies, that is what we'll need to do to improve throughout the season."

Never in her 10 seasons in Norman has Gasso had a squad that is more prepared to embrace the game plan that will be put into place.

A four-member senior class headlines a team that will start the season with just one positional starter (freshman Tayl'r Hollis) who hasn't been penciled into a collegiate lineup at least 37 times.

OU returns at least 82 percent of the offensive producers in every statistical category. The first six batters in the lineup should remain exactly the same as last season while providing a cushion for some of the newcomers.

In the circle no less than 84 percent of the statistical production returns in every category. Senior Kami Keiter is the headliner but talented backups Nicole Denes and Stacy Braddock threaten to form the deepest staff in Sooner history.

On defense, 80 percent of the assists return and 85 percent of the outs are back. The major question mark, and perhaps the only major concern at the start of the season, is up the middle where freshman shortstop Tayl'r Hollis and sophomore second baseman Stacia Aleman will get first shot at running the infield.

"We are going to rely heavily on Tayl'r and Stacia from the start," said Gasso. "Tayl'r has all the talent to complete the job, while Stacia has been one of the hardest working players since she arrived last season. She has been working for this opportunity for a year and half and no one deserves it more."

The preseason goals remain the same: win the Big 12, host and win a regional and super regional and return to the World Series to claim a National Championship.

"We have the same goals every season," explained Gasso. "Coming into this year is different because of the experience we have throughout this roster.

"Last season's experience was frustrating for most of us involved with the program because it felt like we got cut short. It was a tough lesson, but a good one to learn. If we recapture that passionate play, we'll get back to Oklahoma City where this team is determined to finish things on its terms."

:: THE LINEUP >>

Freshman Norrelle Dickson, fresh off a summer of international experience, will again spark the offense. The lefty slapper has blazing speed and ranks as one of the three fastest players in the conference. Dickson and the first five batters in Gasso's lineup clearly have the potential to be All-Americans based on their offensive production.

Junior Kristin Vesely may have been the Sooners' best hitter last postseason. She has become a true student of the game and she has a knack for exposing pitcher's weaknesses. The luxury of having two ultra-quick lefties at the top of Gasso's lineup cannot be underestimated.

Senior Christina Enea's powerful bat and outstanding knowledge of the strike zone lend themselves ideally to the third spot. Enea doesn't swing at bad pitches and generally exposes the pitcher's arsenal for the rest of the team. The best hitter in the clutch is a favorite for All-America honors if she can remain healthy for the first time in three seasons.

Heather Scaglione proved herself to be one of the best power hitters in the country last season. She is fully recovered from off-season ankle surgery and will again be one of the most feared hitters in the Big 12 and the NCAA.

Jessica Leslie is the third of what should be four consecutive seniors in the heart of the lineup. Leslie made tremendous strides after a consistent junior year and the coaching staff expect her to have a breakout season.

Kami Keiter may have done more damage at the plate than she did in the circle during the 2004 postseason. If she can continue the offensive progress she made during the postseason, she will be lethal at the plate.

The seventh and eighth spots in the lineup will likely be filled by sophomores Stacia Aleman and Jamie Fox. Aleman has a good feel for the strike zone and deceptive power. Fox's power numbers were some of the best ever by an OU freshman. If her plate discipline improves, she will quickly ascend in the order.

Freshman Tayl'r Hollis will likely fill the ninth spot in the order to begin the season. Gasso likes to have speed in the final spot and Hollis provides above average wheels. She is an all-around talent who has a very quick swing.

"This offense has the potential to be one of the best in OU history. We have above average speed at nearly every position and plenty of power hitters. The key will be how they feed off of each other. They have to help each other out and attack the opposing pitcher as a team."

:: IN THE CIRCLE >>

For the third straight season, senior Kami Keiter headlines the Oklahoma staff. With a little luck and health, Keiter will not be the only option, as she has been for the majority of the last two seasons.

On paper, Gasso has the deepest staff of her tenure. Keiter will fill the ace's role again. Junior Nicole Denes and freshman Stacy Braddock should provide second and third options that compare with any in the country.

Keiter's résumé speaks for itself. She ranks in the top six of every OU career pitching category and could go down as the greatest pitcher in school history. Much like the team itself, the staff hopes that Keiter can be more consistent during the regular season. A lightened load could be a major factor in that happening.

"I know Kami will perform for us this season," said Gasso. "She has done it every year. I also expect her to mentor this staff and I know she is up for that. She had a great teacher in Jennifer Stewart when she came here and she is prepared to pass those lessons onto the rest of this staff."

Denes may be the comeback story of the year. She is fully recovered from off-season heart surgery to repair an arrhythmia that threatened her career. She was much more relaxed in the circle this fall and appears primed to capitalize on her tremendous potential.

"You never wish bad health on any one but Nicole's surgery was a blessing in disguise," said Gasso. "It helped her understand her priorities in life and that softball was truly just a game. She doesn't put as much pressure on herself now and that has given her a much cooler demeanor in the circle."

Pushing Denes for time as the number two option on the staff will be freshman Stacy Braddock. Braddock's dominating presence (she is 6-1) and unusual delivery, coupled with a tremendous arsenal of pitches, will allow her every opportunity to be a major factor in 2005.

The final arm on the staff is freshman and local product Jadyn Smith, who is a crafty righty that may be a year away from regular duty.

"Not only is the staff deeper than we have ever had, but it is also the most diverse," said Gasso. "Each pitcher has very different styles which should complement each other. Hopefully, we can use them in situations out of the pen, which is a luxury we haven't had during my years here."

:: AROUND THE HORN >>

At first base is four year starter and former All-American Christina Enea. Enea is arguably the most underrated defender on the team. She has a solid arm, excellent footwork and quick hands.

Stacia Aleman has staked her claim at second base. Much like Enea, she has an excellent arm and is very sound fundamentally. For the second year player who started 30-plus times last season, her biggest challenge will be getting comfortable in the role.

Freshman Tayl'r Hollis is the key to OU's defense. The freshman has been playing solely at short for the last year and a half, after working at a number of positions during her prep career. She's a quick and slick fielder with good hands who is still developing fundamentally.

"We need Tayl'r to embrace the leadership role that comes with playing shortstop. That is a transition she has to make herself. I know she has the ability and then some. It will just be a matter of when everything clicks for her," commented the Sooner head coach.

Norrelle Dickson moved back to third base during the Big 12 season last year. It immediately became evident that the position was her natural spot. She has all the tools and may be the Sooners' most talented defender.

At catcher is Heather Scaglione who intimidates opposing team on defense as much as she does with her bat. Teams rarely attempt to steal on the Sooner signal caller and are successful even less. Her work with All-America pitchers Alicia Hollowell (Arizona) and Monica Abbott (Tennessee) while playing for the USA Elite team last summer should only improve her signal calling.

"Heather was spectacular in every way last season," praised Gasso. "She convinced me and a lot of coaches that she is the best catcher in college softball. She has put herself in position to be a major player and someone I expect to compete for a spot on the 2008 Olympic Team."

Freshman Savannah Long will play a backup role to both Hollis and Aleman to begin the season. Scaglione has already taken freshman Susan Ogden under her wing at catcher. Ogden will be a much needed reliever from the wear and tear Scaglione has endured the last three years.

:: IN THE OUTFIELD >>

Senior left fielder Jessica Leslie and junior center fielder Kristin Vesely combined to make just five errors last season. They are opposites in style but team up to close off the left-center gap.

Vesely has an innate ability to read the ball off the bat, which joined with her exceptional speed, gives her spectacular range. Due to her range, she hardly ever has to dive for a ball or is caught out of position.

Leslie is a hard worker who has turned herself into an outstanding left fielder. She did not commit an error last season and enters the year with a 76-game errorless streak.

"We knew what Kristin could do coming into last season but Jessica exceeded our expectations," continued Gasso. "She was an anchor on our defense and a player who made a number of key outs for the team."

After losing her starting position at third base last season, Jamie Fox transitioned effortlessly to right field. She will begin 2005 as the starter in right, where her strong right arm is ideal.

Sophomores Amber Spaulding and Jade Prather, along with junior Mariee Mena, will fight for any time that opens up at the outfield positions. Prather and Spaulding can play all three positions, while Mena's skills are fitted for the corners.

PATTY GASSO

:: 11TH SEASON AT OKLAHOMA >> 15TH AS HEAD COACH >> LONG BEACH STATE, 1984 >>
:: OU RECORD: 494-162-1 >> CAREER RECORD: 656-221-1 >>

As she begins her 11th season at the University of Oklahoma, head coach Patty Gasso has molded the OU softball program into a national power and permanently placed herself among the elite college softball coaches in the country.

In each of the last five seasons the Sooners have reached the Women's College World Series. In the process extending their NCAA postseason streak to 11, 10 of which have come under Gasso. The WCWS run began in 2000 when her team won the NCAA National Championship in OU's first appearance.

Coach Gasso holds an overall record of 494-162-1 (.752) at the University of Oklahoma. As she closes in on her 500th career win at OU she continues to distance herself from her counterparts in the Big 12 and her predecessors at OU. She has won more Big 12 games (122-35) than any coach in the league's history and has nearly doubled up every other coach who ever led the Sooners.

Is she the best coach in the history of Oklahoma softball? Undoubtedly. Is she the greatest coach in Big 12 history? The stats say she is. Could she be one of the best coaches to ever coach college softball? Each season she continues to build what is a very strong argument.

Currently in her 15th season as a head coach, Gasso has a career collegiate coaching record of 656-221-1 (.747).

Gasso's Sooner teams have finished lower than second in conference twice since the inception of the Big 12 in 1996. They have won 78 percent of their Big 12 contests and OU has claimed three Big 12 regular season and two tournament titles under her direction.

Numerous Sooner players have prospered under Coach Gasso's tutelage and garnered national, regional and conference recognition. She has directed 18 All-Americans, 35 All-Midwest Region honorees and 70 all-conference selections. In the Big 12 era, four Sooners have been named Big 12 Player of the Year, two have been selected as Big 12 Freshman of the Year and one each as Big 12 Newcomer and Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year.

The OU softball success under Gasso has also spilled over into the classroom where 52 individuals have earned academic all-conference recognition and five of those have gone on to become Academic All-Americans, including Lana Moran, the 2000 Academic All-American of the Year.

In her first season at the helm, the Sooners recorded a 43-23 record, finished second in the conference and reached the regional final. Several Sooners received awards for their play during the 1995 season, including 11 players who garnered all-conference accolades (four on the first team).

The Sooners also received national recognition for their stellar play as Brea Moore led a trio of players named to the All-Midwest Region team. Moore also earned NFCA All-America honors for her 23-7 record and 226 strikeouts. OU's players also excelled off the field during the 1995 season. Eight players earned academic all-conference honors, and four of them were selected to the first team. Jennifer Sherman led the way in the classroom for the softball squad, netting GTE CoSIDA Academic All-America honors.

Gasso and the Sooners reached new heights in 1996, recording a 50-20 record, a first-ever Big 12 Championship, and another regional final berth. OU dominated the inaugural Big 12 Tournament, putting five players on the all-tournament squad. Pitcher Jill Most was named the tourney MVP. Gasso's 1996 squad also became the first team outside of the states of California or Arizona to win the prestigious Pony Tournament.

Gasso was recognized by her peers for her team's performance, earning the Big 12 Coach-of-the-Year award. Again, Sooner players were mentioned as some of the league's best with 10 players receiving All-Big 12 recognition. Leading the way was Most, a junior from Tulsa, Okla., Most garnered Big 12 Conference Co-MVP honors for her 29-12 record and 356 strikeouts. Most was one of two players (Casey Dickson) to earn conference player-of-the-week recognition, receiving the award four times. She was also one of three players to be selected to the All-Midwest Region squad and was named an NFCA All-American. Gasso has always stressed success in the classroom and 1996 was no exception as three players earned Academic All-Big 12 status.

Coach Gasso continued the trend of reaching new heights in 1997 when the team recorded the second best record in school history (55-19). The season was highlighted by two impressive 12-game winning streaks that helped the team to a second-place finish in the Big 12. For the fourth consecutive year, OU advanced to a NCAA regional. It marked the first time in school history that OU hosted the event.

Oklahoma again made its presence felt among the nation's elite, with six players earning All-Big 12 honors and four players making the All-Midwest Region team. Most became the first player in school history to earn back-to-back NFCA All-America status. Another first was achieved when two Sooners were named GTE CoSIDA Academic All-Americans in the same year.

The 1998 season was probably one of the best in OU softball history. However, it wasn't because of the number of wins and losses or the tournaments won by the Sooners. It was due to the fact the team featured six freshmen. Gasso led the young group to a 49-15 record, a second-place conference finish and a No. 1 seed in a NCAA Regional. Five Sooners were named to the all-conference squad and three players were named to the All-Midwest Region team. Sophomore Lana Moran responded to being named Oklahoma's No. 1 pitcher by recording a 23-9 mark and 157 strikeouts. For her efforts, Moran was selected as an NFCA All-American. She was also named a GTE Academic All-American, making her what is believed to be only the third female athlete in OU history to accomplish both feats in the same season. The Sooners registered their share of huge victories in 1998, including a win over No. 1-ranked Arizona, and three wins over eventual national champion Fresno State.

OU Head Coach Patty Gasso

In 1999, Gasso led OU to its sixth straight NCAA regional playoff appearance and her team continued to demonstrate that she is one of the top coaches in the country. Along the path to the regional playoffs in Baton Rouge, La., the Sooners seized several awards and honors. For the second time in the three-year history of the Big 12 Conference, OU was crowned regular season champion. The Sooners, who finished with a 40-16 overall record, won the Big 12 with an 11-3 record. Oklahoma fell just short of its goal, the Women's College World Series, but the Sooners proved once again that they were a national powerhouse. That year, OU defeated several top-25 teams including Louisiana State, Texas, Massachusetts, Oregon, Texas A&M, Missouri and Nebraska. In addition, the Sooners swept the four-game series with state rival Oklahoma State. The last victory against the Cowgirls in the regular season finale clinched the Big 12 title.

Under Gasso's direction, several players were honored for their individual achievements. Senior first baseman Lynette Velazquez became the first OU softball player to be named a first team All-American. The left-handed power hitter was also named Big 12 Conference Player of the Year. Sophomore shortstop Lisa Carey, who was named to the All-Big 12 first team, also made the All-America list as a third teamer. Left-handed pitcher Jennifer Stewart was named Big 12 Freshman of the Year and was placed on the All-Big 12 first team. Velazquez, Carey and Stewart were named to the All-Midwest Region first team, while catcher Ashli Barrett and freshman outfielder Christy Ring were named to the All-Midwest Region second team. Four Sooner players (Velazquez, Carey, Stewart and Barrett) were selected to the All-Big 12 first team and two (Ring and Deborah Hargrave) were named to the All-Big 12 second team.

Not only were Gasso's players honored for their accomplishments in 1999, but she was also recognized for her solid coaching effort. Gasso was named the 1999 Big 12 Coach of the Year, and she, along with assistants Melyssa Panzer and Tim Walton, were named the Midwest Regional Coaching Staff of the Year.

The 2000 Sooners won their third Big 12 regular season title since the league began in 1996 and hosted their first NCAA Regional since 1997. Behind an explosive offense and a dominant defense, the Sooners rolled to a 66-8 record and won their final eight games of the season to capture the first softball national championship in school history.

Four Sooners earned All-America honors, with Carey and Barrett earning first team recognition. Outfielder Erin Evans and pitcher Stewart were both third team All-Americans and Stewart was named the Most Outstanding Player of the WCWS.

The accolades rolled in as Gasso was named the Dallas Morning News Big 12 Coach of the Year. She and her staff also earned the Midwest Region Coach of the Year award and Speedline/NFCA Division I National Coaching Staff of the Year.

Following the 2000 National Championship season, Gasso's 2001 squad continued the string of success. The 2001 team went on to match many of the accomplishments of the previous year, including a return trip to the Women's College World Series, a 50-win season and four All-America selections. The team also established its own successes by compiling a school-record 23-game win streak and the program's first Big 12 Tournament title since 1996.

In 2002, Oklahoma went 49-16 and 14-2 in the Big 12. Taking their team motto "Triple Threat" to heart, the Sooners swept their third consecutive NCAA Regional and advanced to a third straight Women's College World Series.

The 2003 squad was led by five seniors and sophomore hurler Kami Keiter. OU reached its fourth consecutive WCWS by becoming the first Sooner squad to claim a regional championship away from Norman. OU ended the season with a 47-14 record and won one game before being eliminated from the 2003 WCWS.

Five Sooners were named to the All-Big 12 Conference First Team including senior Leah Gulla, who led the conference in batting average, hits and RBI. Underclassmen Keiter, Heather Scaglione and Kristin Vesely joined senior Evans on the all-conference team. The NFCA bestowed All-America honors on Keiter and Gulla, while Evans joined the duo on the Midwest All-Region Team.

The OU program reached a couple milestones during the 2003 season. The program recorded its 1,000th victory when the Sooners knocked off Bethune-Cookman in its regional opener on May 15. Justifying its nickname, the Sooners also became the first Big 12 team to reach the 100-win mark in conference play. OU beat Nebraska, 1-0, in Lincoln on March 20, 2003, to be the first and only current squad to reach the century mark.

The 2004 season went down as one of the most memorable in Sooner history. OU battled through injuries during the entire regular season and peaked at the right time. OU, seeded second in the NCAA Region I Championship, stormed through Tucson, Ariz., knocking off No. 1 Arizona and No. 9 Louisiana-Lafayette en route to the Sooners' fifth consecutive WCWS. The Sooners entered the WCWS as the hottest hitting team in the postseason and held onto that recognition, despite being eliminated after winning their opener against Washington.

Junior catcher Heather Scaglione was the Big 12's most feared hitter and player, which helped her garner First Team Big 12, Midwest Region and All-America honors to go along with the first-ever Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year award. Christina Enea, Kami Keiter, Mariee Mena, Norrelle Dickson and Kristin Vesely also earned conference and regional honors of their own.

Gasso's staff was recognized for a fifth time as the NFCA Midwest Region Coaching Staff of the Year, thanks to one of the most memorable postseason runs in NCAA history.

Gasso enters the 2005 season needing just six wins to reach 500 for her OU career. With a squad led by three senior All-Americans and eight returning starters, it will be no surprise when Gasso has her team playing into the first week of June.

Gasso began her softball career as a player at Long Beach State. She described herself as speedy, strong armed infielder who had an above average bat.

Gasso and her family reside in Norman. Her husband, Jim, recently left his post as the athletics director at St. Gregory's College and became the director of baseball operations at OU.

The Gasso's have two sons. The oldest son, J.T., is 16 and plays football and baseball for a local high school. The youngest son, D.J., is 10 and an avid baseball and basketball player.

assistant coach

MELYSSA LOMBARDI

:: EIGHTH SEASON AT OKLAHOMA >> OKLAHOMA, 1996 >>

As a catcher for Oklahoma in 1995-1996, Melyssa Lombardi helped direct the Sooner pitchers to new heights. Now in her eighth season as a full-time assistant coach, Lombardi continues to guide the Sooner pitchers and catchers to even greater accomplishments.

"Melyssa was a catcher here and she had good leadership behind the plate," said head coach Patty Gasso of her assistant.

"She has really good knowledge of the pitchers and handles them well. I think she doesn't get the credit she deserved in calling those games at the World Series the last five years. She had a game plan, called every pitch and it was tremendous. I attribute a lot of our success on the mound and behind the plate to what she's been doing."

Drawing from her playing days as a catcher for the Sooners, Lombardi has been able to lend her valuable experiences in tutoring the Oklahoma catchers and pitchers. In seven years of instructing the Sooner battery, she has guided several players to numerous accolades including All-America, all-conference and all-region honors.

In 2004 Lombardi may have had her biggest challenge since joining the OU staff. The pitching coach had to hold together a staff that was missing its No. 1 and No. 2 pitcher for a combined total of 51 games. Despite the shortage of arms, the Sooners were the third best staff (in terms of ERA) in the Big 12. Lombardi's protege Kami Keiter turned it up another notch during the postseason when she garnered All-Big 12 Tournament and Region I Championship MVP honors.

In 2003 Lombardi guided Keiter out of the shadows of Sooner great Jennifer Stewart and into stardom. In just her second collegiate season, Keiter led the Big 12 in wins (47) and was ranked in the NCAA top-15 in two pitching categories. The Sooner pitching staff combined for an ERA of 1.40, which ranked as the 18th best in the NCAA.

In her first year on the coaching staff as a student assistant in 1997, the OU pitching staff produced one of the lowest earned run averages in school history and in the country. The staff finished with a 1.14 ERA to rank seventh in the nation.

The Sooners' pitching performances continued to rank among the nation's elite in 1998 and 1999 and the Sooners' improvement culminated in 2000 with a national championship.

In the national championship season, the team registered a 1.44 ERA which was good enough for second in the Big 12 and ranked 25th nationally. The staff posted 24 shutouts and its best strikeout total in three years with 301. Lombardi helped guide the 1-2 punch of Lana Moran and Jennifer Stewart that year. Moran went 26-2 and led the Big 12 with a 1.28 ERA. Stewart was a third team All-America selection and the MVP of the Women's College World Series. Lombardi also helped catcher Ashli Barrett reach new heights as the junior was named a first team All-American.

The Glendale, Ariz., native ended her two-year playing career with the Sooners with a spectacular senior season in 1996. Her team-leading .345 batting average was a key factor during OU's Big 12 Conference Championship run that year.

She was also instrumental in helping Jill Most and Jennifer Jaime record two of the best pitching seasons in school history. Lombardi caught all three of Most's wins in OU's conference tournament games and was named to the all-tournament team after going 3-for-8 (.375) at the plate with four RBI, two runs scored, a triple and a stolen base.

Lombardi graduated from OU in 1997 with a degree in health and sports science. The former Melyssa Panzer married John Lombardi on Nov. 10, 2000 and the couple currently resides in Norman.

HOWARD DOBSON

:: THIRD SEASON AT OKLAHOMA >> McNEESE STATE, 1997 >>

In keeping with Oklahoma's national reputation as an offensive force, the Sooner softball program in 2002 added one of the nation's top offensive minds with the hiring of Howard Dobson as assistant coach.

Head coach Patty Gasso lured away the University of Houston's top assistant coach who led the Cougars to national rankings in batting average and scoring in 2002. Just as he was at UH, Dobson is responsible for handling OU's outfielders and hitting instruction.

"Howard did great things at the University of Houston in two years there and their teams put up some good numbers offensively. It's a no-brainer for us to want him here," said Gasso upon hiring Dobson.

"He was a good fit for us as he has experienced success with coaching outfielders and he also brought with him some new things that allowed us to continue growing. With his talents complementing our style of play, our program won't miss a beat."

Dobson proved his offensive reputation true in 2003 as the Sooners topped the conference ranks in runs (279) and slugging percentage (.436), while ranking second in batting average (.271) and third in on-base percentage (.345).

His one season with 2003 graduate Leah Gulla turned the all-conference talent into a First Team All-American and the most feared hitter in the Big 12.

It was more of the same in 2004 as the Sooners were the top hitting team in the conference and Dobson helped guide Heather Scaglione to national prominence. Scaglione was hands-down the most feared hitter in the Big 12 while claiming seven batting titles.

The Orange, Texas, native helped start up Houston's softball program in 2000. In the program's first year, Dobson helped guide the team to a fifth place finish in Conference USA. Dobson's 2002 offensive group tied for 12th in the country in batting average with a .299 mark and tied for 30th in the country in scoring with a 4.65 runs per game average.

The team led the league in hits (480), runs scored (279), slugging percentage (.448), RBI (244) and home runs (47), narrowly missing the conference record of 49. During his two years at Houston, Dobson coached 10 all-conference honorees, including the 2002 Conference USA Freshman of the Year.

Prior to joining Houston's staff, Dobson served as an assistant at Southeastern Louisiana for two seasons. With his help, two Lady Lions garnered all-region accolades.

Dobson began his softball coaching career at McNeese State as a volunteer assistant coach. At McNeese State, he worked with the Southland Conference's 1999 Hitter of the Year.

He previously gained softball coaching experience as an assistant coach at Barbe High School in Louisiana where he led the team to the state 5A title and directed one of its players to Miss Softball Louisiana honors. While at Barbe, seven of his players went on to compete at the Division I level including nationally renowned programs Louisiana State and DePaul.

Dobson has also gained valuable experience working at collegiate skills camps during the summer and coaching on the international level. In the summer of 1999, his international team won the German Open with one of its players named tournament MVP.

A former all-conference performer at Panola Junior College, Dobson went on to finish his collegiate baseball career at McNeese State where he graduated with a degree in health & human performance and English in 1997.

Dobson is married the former Katharine Watts on Dec. 29, 2000, and the couple lives in Norman.

director of operations
NICKIE ENGELBRECHT
:: FOURTH SEASON AT OKLAHOMA >> TEXAS WOMAN'S UNIVERSITY, 2001 >>

Nickie Engelbrecht begins her fourth season on the Oklahoma softball staff. Engelbrecht joined the staff after a very successful career at Texas Woman's University. For the second consecutive season, Engelbrecht will fulfill the role of Director of Operations, a position that OU head coach Patty Gasso created to keep the South Africa native on her staff.

"Nickie has great work habits and a burning desire to work in big time sports," Gasso says. "What I like about her is that she knows she has to start at the bottom and work her way up. She is an integral part of our program and her work behind the scenes is absolutely priceless."

Engelbrecht was a two-time All-American as a Pioneer and was the Lone Star Conference Player of the Year as a senior while earning all-conference and all-region accolades.

Engelbrecht set or tied 32 team records over her four-year career. Playing at shortstop, she led the conference in stolen bases with 17 as a senior. She was named to the NCAA Division II South Central Regional first team. Engelbrecht led the Pioneers with a batting average of .362 while tallying 13 RBI and five home runs and earning a field percentage of .953 in her final season.

Engelbrecht not only excelled on the field but in the classroom as well. She was an academic all-conference team member, a Verizon Academic All-America third team member and a two-time GTE Academic All-America District IV team member.

After graduating from Alberton High School in 1994, Engelbrecht attended a business school in Alberton for one year while playing for the South African senior softball team. She carried the second highest batting average (.480) and was a utility player on the South African team in Olympic qualifying competition in Holland in 1995. She ranked sixth in batting in that tournament (.423) and was named to the all-star team. She also represented South Africa in the African Cup in Zimbabwe as a utility player in 1995.

Born on Oct. 16, 1976, in Johannesburg, South Africa, Engelbrecht earned a bachelor's degree in kinesiology while at Texas Woman's University. After graduating from TWU in 2001, she was awarded one of the few NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships. Engrelbrecht graduated with a Masters degree in human relations from OU in the summer of 2004.

graduate assistant coach
MELANIE MEUCHEL
:: FIRST SEASON AT OKLAHOMA >> MESA STATE COLLEGE, 2002 >>

Melanie Meuchel is the latest addition to the Oklahoma softball coaching staff. Meuchel joins the Sooners after serving as an assistant coach at McNeese State for the last two seasons (2003 and 2004).

"Melanie has a great young mind for the game of softball," said OU head coach Patty Gasso. "I was impressed with her work at McNeese State when we played them in 2004. She is a tremendous coaching prospect and we expect that she will contribute in many areas to the success of this program."

Meuchel's main responsibilities will reside with the pitching staff. She will assist pitching coach Melyssa Lombardi during practice and is responsible for warming up OU's pitchers in the bullpen on game days. Additionally, Meuchel will help with in-game scouting and charting, as well as contributing with all other areas of game management.

McNeese State compiled a 43-68 record during Meuchel's two years in Lake Charles, La. The highlight of her two year stint came at the Sooners' expense. The upstart Cowgirls came to the OU Softball Complex and upset the No. 7 Sooners in the first game of a tournament doubleheader on March 13, 2004.

Jessica Denham and Corrie Hale were guided to All-Southland honors under Muechel's pitching instruction. Denham garnered all-conference honors the last two seasons, while also earning all-region honors in 2004.

During her time at McNeese State she pulled double duties, also serving as head coach for the Shockers, a 12-and-under ASA travel ball team in Lake Charles.

Immediately following her playing career at Mesa State she took a student assistant coach position before leaving her alma mater to become a professional counselor at the University of Montana's National Youth Sports Program.

Meuchel was a standout pitcher for Mesa State during her playing days. She earned four letters while claiming both athletic and academic honors from the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. She also claimed All-Region Tournament honors en route to Mesa State competing in the Division II Women's College World Series.

She earned a B.A. in human performance and wellness K-12 in 2002 from Mesa State. Currently she is pursuing a graduate degree in intercollegiate athletics administration from OU.

Meuchel, who was born in Missoula, Mont., is from a softball family. Her parents, Mary and Dennis, coach the Missoula Lady Mavs, an 18-and-under travel team. Her older brother, Matt, is an assistant coach at the University of Nevada at Reno.

Season Review

The 2004 season is in elite company.

In terms of excitement it only falls short of 2000, when Oklahoma won the national championship in its first trip to the Women's College World Series.

The list of accomplishments isn't too far off either. The Sooners stormed through arguably the toughest regional of the season and knocked off No. 1 Arizona on its home field.

OU wasn't done. The Sooners rebounded from a flat outing in the opener on championship Sunday to eliminate Louisiana-Lafayette in resounding fashion with a 15-0 run-rule win.

After landing the first punch that helped end Arizona's NCAA record streak of 16 straight WCWS appearances and rebounding with indescribable fight, the Sooners were in the national championship tourney for the fifth consecutive season.

OU softball has established itself on the national stage since 2000 and begins every season with the expectation of ending it in Oklahoma City.

But 2004 had many people outside the program doubting OU's chances.

The naysayers pointed to the fifth place Big 12 finish and numerous injuries to key contributors (Christina Enea, Heather Scaglione, Kami Keiter, Nicole Denes, Kristin Vesely).

Within the program, OU head coach Patty Gasso encouraged her team to stick with the plan. They hadn't peaked and there was no better time to click than during regionals.

In hindsight, it may have been foolish to doubt Gasso's coaching skills, especially in the regionals. Since 2000, her squads have rolled through regionals, losing one (to Lafayette in 2004) of 21 games.

Everything came together at the right time and OU rolled into the WCWS as perhaps the hottest team. The breaks continued to go its way in a 6-2 win over Washington in the opener.

The Sooners continued to be one of the hottest hitting teams in the field. Cal and Stanford were both outhit by the squad from Norman. Unfortunately, the flipside of the story was that OU stranded 21 runners and the missed opportunities spelled the end of its storied run.

The coaches around the country noticed the efforts of OU when the staff was named the NFCA Midwest Coaching Staff of the Year.

The good news for that staff is nearly every piece from the remarkable 2004 campaign returns.

It's more than likely that the softball world won't doubt OU next time around.

:: ELITE COMPANY >>

A few notes on Oklahoma's place among the elite of college softball:

> Oklahoma qualified for its fifth consecutive Women's College World Series. The last non-Pac 10 softball program to qualify for five straight was Fresno State, which had five in a row from 1988-92.

> Oklahoma is the only school not based in California or a member of the Pac 10 to make it to the series in five consecutive seasons. The Women's College World Series began in 1982.

> The only other school to parlay its first series appearance into five straight was Arizona, which made its first series in 1988. The Wildcats had been to 16 straight before being knocked out in regional action last season.

> Oklahoma's consecutive series streak was third among the 2004 field. Only UCLA and Cal, which have played in the last six, have longer current runs.

:: SOONERS EARN USA GOLD >>

Oklahoma standouts Kami Keiter, Heather Scaglione and Norrelle Dickson played crucial roles for the USA Elite Team that won the gold medal in the First World University Softball Championships in Plant City, Fla. from Oct. 25-30. The trio made OU the first softball program in Big 12 history to have three collegiate members on a national team (of any sort) at the same time.

Dickson started every game at designated player and was third on the team with a .364 batting average. Dickson tallied three runs scored, two RBI and two stolen bases in nine games.

Scaglione finished with a .250 batting average after playing in six games and starting five. The Sooner All-American had four hits, two runs scored, three RBI and played error-free softball behind the dish for the USA.

Keiter finished her international debut with a 1-0 record and 0.84 ERA. Her tournament was highlighted by a perfect game. Keiter and Amy Harre (Southern Illinois) stifled the Guatemala offense on Friday, Oct. 29, and notched the first perfect game of the tournament. OU's senior All-American threw 8.1 innings allowing eight hits and one earned run while striking out nine.

The USA squad went 8-1 and avenged its only loss by defeating Chinese-Taipei in the gold medal game.

:: REMARKABLE REGIONAL >>

The Oklahoma softball team's run through the Region I Championships in Tucson, Ariz. was remarkable for a number reasons:

> OU's 3-2 defeat of Arizona marked the second time in program history that OU has defeated a No. 1 ranked team.

> That defeat led to U-of-A being eliminated, which ended the Wildcats' NCAA record streak of 16 consecutive WCWS appearances.

> OU defeated the NCAA's top two pitchers in terms of wins, winning percentage and strikeouts. Hollowell was 41-4 (.911) after the regional, while Brooke Mitchell was 45-5 (.900).

> Hollowell, a 2004 USA Softball Player of the Year finalist, had 508 strikeouts on the year while Mitchell had an NCAA-best 524. OU struck out only six times against Hollowell and seven total times against Mitchell. Mitchell could only strike out one Sooner, when OU cruised past the Cajuns 15-0.

> Oklahoma's 15-0 win over Louisiana-Lafayette tied a pair of NCAA records. The number of runs equaled the most ever scored in a regional final. Michigan topped Notre Dame in a Regional 1 final, 15-6, in 1995, while Arizona routed Florida State, 15-0, in Region 3 that same year.

> The margin of victory tied the widest ever in a regional game, regardless of round. The above-mentioned Arizona win shares that mark.

> OU is the lowest ranked team (No. 21) to enter as essentially the No. 1 seed. For OU it was the first time the Sooners have claimed the top spot in the national championship tournament.

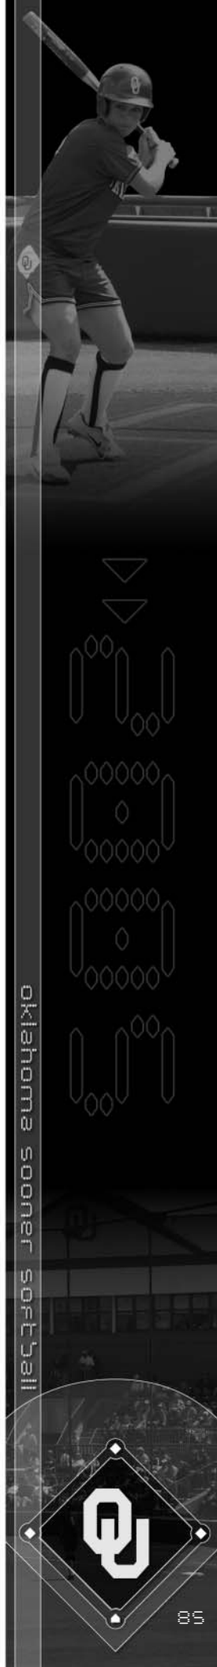
> By advancing, OU has the third longest active streak of WCWS appearances at five. OU is one behind Cal and UCLA who have made six straight.

> Brooke Mitchell's line of four runs and eight hits in the first game on championship Sunday was her worst of the season. That lasted until OU came out in the second game and roped her for nine runs and nine hits, which are both career-worsts.

> The 15 runs OU posted on No. 9 Lafayette was the most the Sooners have ever posted against a ranked team.

> It was the largest margin of victory since 2002, when OU defeated Drake 15-0.

> It was the second time in 2004 OU had scored 15 runs and the 10th time under coach Gasso that the Sooners have surpassed the mark. OU has scored 15 or more runs 33 times in the program's history.



2004 Notes

:: ALL THIS, ALL THAT >>

Heather Scaglione became the third player in an accomplished junior class to earn All-America honors. She became the first of the trio - Christina Enea and Kami Keiter included - to earn first team acclaim as an at-large selection. A total of 19 Sooners have been named All-Americans and Scaglione is just the second catcher to garner the national recognition. Ashli Barrett was the other catcher, garnering First Team - At Large in 2000 and Second Team in 2001.

Scaglione was also among three Sooners named to the NFCA Midwest All-Region Team. First baseman Christina Enea and freshman Norrelle Dickson also gained the regional honor. Dickson and Scaglione were named to the First Team, while Enea garnered Second Team acclaim.

Four Sooners were named to the All-Region 1 Championship Team. Leading the pack was Most Outstanding Player Kami Keiter, who went 4-1 in the circle and drove in seven runs at the plate. She was joined by Enea (.563, 5 RBI), Scaglione (.316, 3 RBI) and Mariee Mena (.357, 6 RBI). For Enea, Scaglione and Keiter, it was the second such distinction of their respective careers.

Keiter and freshman Jamie Fox were two of 12 players named to the All-Big 12 Tournament team. Fox led all tourney hitters with a .636 batting average. She reached safely seven times in 11 at bats. As usual, Keiter was a workhorse for OU. She threw 29.2 innings with a 1.18 ERA while opposing hitters batted just .188 against her.

Scaglione received more all-conference votes than any player and was named Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year and First Team All-Big 12. Joining the junior on the All-Big 12 First Team were Enea at first base and Kristin Vesely as an at-large selection. Keiter and sophomore outfielder Mariee Mena were named to the All-Big 12 Second Team.

Scaglione set a Big 12 record by garnering five Big 12 Player of the Week awards. She owns the single season record for offensive awards, as well as the career mark (6). Dickson also garnered Big 12 Offensive Player of the Week honors on March 16. Nicole Denes was the only Sooner pitcher to claim a Big 12 Pitcher of the Week honor (March 2).

:: DENES SIDELINED FOR SEASON >>

Oklahoma starting pitcher Nicole Denes was sidelined for the last 30 games of her sophomore season with a heart arrhythmia (medically termed Superventricular Tachycardia). Denes had an irregular heart beat while OU was at Texas A&M (3/28) and was held out of competition from that point. The condition was diagnosed by OU athletics staff cardiologist Dr. Phil Adamson. Denes was on medication for three months before undergoing successful heart surgery on July 9. Two weeks later she was cleared for full physical activity and is expected to once again be the No. 2 starter on the OU pitching staff. Denes finished her 2004 campaign with a 16-6 record and 1.82 ERA in 142.1 innings of work.

:: STOPPING CRIME >>

In 68 games only 24 runners attempted to steal a base against catcher Heather Scaglione and she gunned down 14 of them (58 percent). In 2003, 38 runners tried to steal on the Sooner signal caller and she tossed out 14 (38 percent). Scaglione had a streak of 34 straight games without allowing a stolen base snapped against Arizona (3/19). Coach Gasso took to calling her the best catcher in the country and it's clear that Scaglione's reputation preceded her. Only two players were successful in stealing off Scaglione over the final 20 games. Only about one out of every three opponents even attempted to steal.

:: PROMOTING THEFT >>

Baseball statisticians say individuals need to successfully steal 80 percent of the time to help their team. How about if your team completes the theft at an 81 percent rate? The Sooners swiped 97 bases on 120 attempts this season. Thirteen Sooners recorded a stolen base with Norrelle Dickson at the top of the pack with 25.

The Sooners success on the base paths was an added dimension from the previous year. In 2003, OU stole 56 bases on 88 attempts (64 percent).

:: SWITCHING THINGS UP >>

After defensive struggles in Nebraska (4/7-8), OU coach Patty Gasso felt it was time to shake up the infield. The result against Texas Tech (4/21) was moving Norrelle Dickson to her natural position, third base, and inserting senior Katie Overton at shortstop. Dickson had started the previous 48 games at short, while freshman Jamie Fox had started the same number at third. Fox found herself penciled in at designated player and right field after the change. The new defensive look was a resounding success over the final 20 games.

Heather Scaglione received more all-conference votes than any player and was named Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year.

In the conference ranks for the regular season, she led the Big 12 in home runs (16), RBI (49), total bases (134), slugging percentage (.660), and walks (41), while ranking second in batting average (.369) and on-base percentage (.476) and third in runs scored (42) and fifth in doubles (11).

She claimed seven conference offensive titles after leading all hitters during Big 12 play in batting average (.455), home runs (6), RBI (15), total bases (40), on-base percentage (.597), slugging percentage (.909) and walks (16).

:: MAJOR MILESTONE AWAITING >>

OU head coach Patty Gasso claimed the 650th victory of her head coaching career (Long Beach City College and OU) with a defeat of No. 25 Tulsa on May 11. Her current career record is 656-221-1 (.747). Gasso picked up the 450th win of her Sooner career when OU knocked off Illinois 7-0 in the season opener at the LSU Tiger Classic (Feb. 6). Gasso's OU career record is 494-162-1 (.752). Gasso is just six wins shy of the 500th victory of her Sooner career. She will likely surpass the mark early in the 2005 season.

:: LANA MORAN >>

Oklahoma pitcher Lana Moran took the term "student-athlete" to new heights with her 2000 Academic All-American of the Year recognition.

The lone senior on the 2000 team that won OU's first softball national championship, Moran captained the team as she tallied a 26-2 mark with five shutouts. Her 1.28 ERA led the Big 12 Conference.

Moran's biggest achievement came in the classroom where the San Bernardino, Calif., native compiled a 3.88 grade point average in sociology. She was named Academic All-Big 12 in each of her four seasons.

Moran was a two-time GTE first team Academic All-American. In 2000, she became the first Sooner in any sport to be named Academic All-American of the Year.

President David Boren

David L. Boren, who has served Oklahoma as governor and U.S. senator, became the thirteenth president of the University of Oklahoma in November 1994. He is the first person in state history to have served in all three positions.

Boren is widely respected for his academic credentials, his longtime support of education, and for his distinguished political career as a reformer of the American political system. A graduate of Yale University in 1963, Boren majored in American history, graduated in the top one percent of his class and was elected Phi Beta Kappa. He was selected as a Rhodes Scholar and earned a master's degree in politics, philosophy and economics from Oxford University, England, in 1965.

In 1968, he received a law degree from the University of Oklahoma College of Law, where he was on the Law Review, elected to the Order of the Coif, and won the Bledsoe Prize as the outstanding graduate by a vote of the faculty.
As Oklahoma's governor from 1974 through 1978, Boren promoted key educational initiatives that have had an enduring impact on Oklahoma. Established during his tenure were: the Oklahoma Summer Arts Institute, the Scholar-Leadership Enrichment Program, and the Oklahoma Physicians Manpower Training Program, which provides scholarships for medical students and medical personnel who commit to practice in underserved rural areas. Also, the first state funding for Gifted and Talented classes was provided in 1976 and, from 1976 through 1978, Oklahoma ranked first among all states in the percentage increases of funding for higher education.

One of Boren's most far-reaching projects in promoting quality education at all levels is the Oklahoma Foundation for Excellence, which he founded in 1985. The foundation recognizes outstanding public school students and teachers and helps establish private local foundations to help give academic endowment grants to local public schools. As a senator, he was the author of the National Security Education Act in 1992, which provides scholarships for study abroad and for learning additional languages, as well as legislation to restore the tax deductibility of gifts of appreciated property to universities in 1993.
Boren, also a former state legislator, spent nearly three decades in elective politics before becoming the president of the University of Oklahoma. Boren was the youngest governor in the nation when he served from 1974 to 1978. Known as a reformer, Boren campaigned with a broom as his symbol. During his term, he instituted many progressive programs, including conflict-of-interest rules, campaign-financing disclosure, stronger open meeting laws for public bodies, and more competitive bidding on state government contracts.

During his time in the U.S. Senate — from 1979 to 1994 — Boren served on the Senate Finance and Agriculture Committees and was the longest-serving chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence. From his days as a state legislator and governor of Oklahoma to Washington, Boren carried a commitment to reform, leading numerous efforts to make government work better for American citizens. As chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, he strengthened oversight of secret government programs and reformed the procedures for Presidential notice of such programs to Congress.

For more than 10 years, he led the fight for congressional campaign finance reform and for legislation discouraging administration and congressional staff from cashing in on government experience and contacts by becoming lobbyists. In addition, he introduced legislation seeking to limit gifts and travel subsidies that government workers, including members of Congress, can receive from lobbyists. Boren also chaired the special 1992-93 Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress, which produced proposals to make Congress more efficient and responsive by streamlining congressional bureaucracy, reducing staff sizes and reforming procedures to end legislative gridlock.

Boren left the U.S. Senate in 1994 with an approval rating of 9l percent after being re-elected with 83 percent of the vote in 1990, the highest percentage in the nation in a U.S. Senate contest in that election year.

Boren served from 1988 to 1997 as a member of the Yale University Board of Trustees. His university experience also includes four years on the faculty of Oklahoma Baptist University, where he was chairman of the Department of Political Science and chairman of the Division of Social Sciences. In 1993, the American Association of University Professors presented Boren with the Henry Yost Award as Education Advocate of the Year.

Under Boren's leadership, the University of Oklahoma has developed and emerged as a "pacesetter university in American public higher education," with 20 major new programs initiated since his inauguration. They include establishment of the an Honors College, the Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West, the Artist-in-Residence Program, the International Programs Center, and the Faculty-in-Residence Program putting faculty family apartments in student residence halls. The Retired Professors Program has been started, bringing 50 retired full professors back to the University to teach freshmen.

The number of new facilities started or completed on the campus during the Boren years has matched the explosion in new programs. A $15 million renovation of the Oklahoma Memorial Union is now complete. The Catlett Music Center with its $16 million concert and recital halls has opened, and so has the Jimmie Austin OU Golf Course and the Charlie Coe Golf

Learning Center. The Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History, one of the largest natural history museum of its kind in the world based at a university, opened in 2000. The Barry Switzer Center and Siegfried and Family Strength and Conditioning Complex are now operational. The Health Sciences Center has a new Student Union, and the new $24 million Stanton L. Young Biomedical Research Center. Construction is complete on the $17 million addition for the College of Law.

Presidential Travel Scholarships, students from 111 countries on campus, more reciprocal international exchange agreements than any other university and the new International Programs Center are all making OU more international. The new Honors College helps to assure that no students need to leave Oklahoma to find an educational experience to match their potential.
In 1995, Boren launched the Reach for Excellence fund-raising campaign with a five-year goal of $200 million, which was twice as large as any fund-raising drive in Oklahoma history. The drive exceeded $500 million, raising OU into the top 15 public universities in the United States in private endowment per capita. Since 1994, endowed professorships have tripled and the OU donor base has grown from 18,000 to more than 72,000 friends and alumni.

Above all, the Boren years have been marked by an emphasis on putting students first. There is not a university president in the country who is more committed to students as his number one priority. He teaches a freshman-level course in political science each semester despite the incredible demands on his schedule.

Boren is married to Molly Shi Boren, a former judge and English teacher. Molly Boren has two degrees from the University of Oklahoma, a master's degree in English and a Juris Doctor degree from the OU College of Law. A native of Seminole, Boren has two children, Carrie Christine Boren and David Daniel Boren. Devoting much of his life to public service, Boren drew from the example of his father, the late Congressman Lyle H. Boren.

Director of Athletics Joe Castiglione

In six years, Joe Castiglione has established a pattern of excellence that few in his profession could match.
While Castiglione would quickly point out that the credit belongs to the student-athletes and coaches, the staff and the university administration, the donors and the fans, someone had to make the first step, to take the lead. He has authored one of the most successful athletics eras ever witnessed at OU and an addition and expansion of facilities that is unmatched in Sooner history.

Using the motto of "Inspiring Champions Today … Preparing Leaders for Tomorrow" as the basis for all decisions, Castiglione has made an unwavering commitment to excellence and to the student-athletes. His vision and ability have changed the face of intercollegiate athletics at the University of Oklahoma.

He has been honored by his peers for the success enjoyed at the University of Oklahoma in his tenure. In October 2004, he was named Athletics Director of the Year by the Bobby Dodds Foundation. In 2003, he was inducted into the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators Hall of Fame. In June 2001, he received the General Robert R. Neyland Athletic Director Award for lifetime achievement from the All-American Football Foundation. In 2000, he was named the Central Region AD of the Year by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA).

The 11th director of athletics at the University of Oklahoma has celebrated four national championships, numerous top-10 NCAA finishes, record numbers of graduating student-athletes, dramatically increased donor giving, huge increases in ticket sales for all sports, major facility improvements and development and construction of new facilities. And, as aggressive as the push to improve, expand and excel has been, he has displayed and demonstrated his ability to produce a balanced budget for the OU Athletic Department for the last six years, a first since the early 1980s.

His commitment to the student-athletes requires success in all endeavors and over the last six years, Castiglione and his Sooners have written several new chapters in the Sooner success story.

The 2003-2004 year demonstrates the overall excellence that Castiglione has made the department's top priority. The Sooners finished an all-time best of 15th in the United States Sports Academy Director's Cup Trophy standings, the second highest ranked program in the Big 12. Presented by NACDA, the Sports Academy and USA Today, the Director's Cup (previously known as the Sears Cup) is awarded to best overall Division I athletic program by using the final finish in up to 10 men's and 10 women's sports teams. The 15th place finish also marked the fourth consecutive year for OU to finish in the top 20.

The Sooners finished second in men's gymnastics, third in football, fifth in softball and ninth in wrestling and women's gymnastics in 2003-2004. OU also produced one national individual champion when DaBryan Blanton won the indoor 60-meter dash title and several current and former Sooners will represent the school and their countries in the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens. OU sent teams or individuals to NCAA postseason competition in 18 of 20 sports.

The past year continued a string of success for Castiglione and the Sooners. The 2002-03 school year yielded a Big 12 title and Rose Bowl crown in football, a third straight Big 12 Tournament title for men's basketball, a second straight national championship in men's gymnastics, and a fourth straight Women's College World Series appearance by the softball team. The Sooners finished 20th in the Sears Cup standings. Most impressive was the fact that OU announced a graduation rate of 74% for its student-athletes, the highest mark posted by any of the Big 12 member schools.
OU finished 17th in the 2001-2002 Sears Directors' Cup standings. Oklahoma was the talk of college athletics during the 2001-02 school year when the Sooners went 11-2 with a Cotton Bowl championship and No. 6 ranking in football, sent both the men's and women's basketball teams to their respective Final Fours, won the NCAA men's gymnastics championship, finished No. 3 in wrestling and No. 6 in women's golf and sent the softball team to the Women's College World Series. Eleven of the school's 20 programs achieved a top 25 ranking. The football and basketball teams combined to win 74 games, a record among college athletics programs.

Few thought such an encore possible following the achievements of the 2001 school year in which 17 of OU's teams sent competitors to NCAA postseason competition and 36 Sooners earned All-America honors. In addition to the national championship in football, the men's gymnastics team finished second and the wrestling team was fourth. The Sooner softball team finished fifth. The women's basketball and women's gymnastics teams were ninth and five Sooner teams earned conference championships. Classroom results also were part of the success story as a record number of Sooner student-athletes were part of OU's Class of 2001.

The 1999-2000 season produced OU's 20th national team championship and four conference champions while 18 teams competed in postseason action. For the first time in his Sooner tenure, the University of Oklahoma ranked in the top 25 in the prestigious Sears Cup competition. The Sooners had five GTE Academic All-Americans, including one Academic All-American of the Year for her sport, and several others were named to GTE all-district and other coach's/sport Academic All-America teams.

His first year as a Sooner also saw 18 teams participate in postseason action and win conference titles in wrestling, softball, men's gymnastics. OU earned the NCAA/CHAMPS Life Skills Program of Excellence award in the fall of 1998 given by the Division IA Athletic Directors Association. The Sooner tennis teams earned their third consecutive ITA Academic All-America honor and OU placed the second highest number of student-athletes on the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll.

Credited with energizing OU's fund-raising efforts, Castiglione was instrumental in re-energizing the athletics department's major campaign, Great Expectations: The Campaign For Sooner Sports. The campaign officially came to an end in November of 2003 with more than $125 million raised or pledged and it has become a blueprint for success that college athletic departments across the country are using. The largest fund-raising effort in OU athletics history, Great Expectations was a unique because it includes projects that will affect every sport and each of OU's nearly 500 student-athletes with facility construction and/or improvements.

Castiglione understands that a commitment to excellence requires several ingredients and he has made that one of his priorities. Fund-raising for athletics at OU is at an all-time high, both in annual campaigns and the capital campaign. On behalf of the University of Oklahoma, he cultivated several million dollar gifts, the largest capital gifts in history for athletics at OU and some of the largest ever for the university as a whole.

He has overseen dramatic construction, renovation and expansion of OU's athletics facilities, including a $70 million project at Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. The $17.2 million renovation of Lloyd Noble Center, which gives the Sooner basketball programs one of the best competitive and practice facilities in the nation, was completed in the fall of 2001. The Headington Family Tennis Center also was completed in 2001. In addition, the Everest Training Facility, one of the largest indoor practice areas in the country, is now complete as are renovations at John Jacobs Field, the Sooners' track and field complex. Other completed projects include a redesign of the Sooner football practice fields; the Port Robertson Wrestling Facility; the Sooner Soccer Complex and John Crain Field which opened for competition in September 2000; as well as additional renovations to L. Dale Mitchell Park, the Charlie Coe Golf Learning Center, the OU Softball Complex and Barry Switzer Center. A master plan includes additional renovations and improvements in the future.

Castiglione has overseen the selection process of head coaches including Bob Stoops who led the Sooner football program to its seventh national championship, as well as soccer, volleyball, cross country, men's and women's gymnastics and men's golf, and reorganized the infrastructure of the athletic department.
He negotiated a multi-million dollar multi-media rights contract that produces more than $8 million in new revenue for the athletics department. The Sooners have had sellouts in football for each of the last five seasons, and season tickets were sold out for the 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004 seasons. A waiting list has been created for Sooner football for the first time the 1980s.
Chaired by OU President David L. Boren, members of the search committee knew they wanted a dynamic leader as they looked for OU's 11th athletic director. They knew they had selected a person who would lead the department to success in all endeavors when Castiglione was hired on April 30, 1998. They knew he was a bright, young leader on the collegiate athletic scene, and all they had to do to find the proof of that was look to Missouri.

In his 18-year career with the Tigers, Castiglione, who was named director of athletics at Missouri on Dec. 15, 1993, rebuilt the pride and infrastructure of the Mizzou Athletic Department. Many of the accomplishments he has enjoyed at OU were part of his legacy at Missouri including rebuilding sports programs, hiring outstanding coaches, a master plan for facilities, record-setting increases in fund-raising and balancing the budget in each of his five years as athletic director.

Castiglione began his collegiate athletic career as a walk-on football player at the University of Maryland, giving him a unique perspective on the challenges faced by student-athletes. He worked as a student in the highly progressive sports marketing department at Maryland, an institution regarded as a pioneer in collegiate marketing. After graduation in 1979, he became the sports promotions director at Rice University and also was given fund-raising responsibilities where he doubled the annual giving for Rice athletics in just one year. He then worked a year as director of athletic fund-raising at Georgetown before being hired at Missouri as director of communications and marketing in 1981 by then-AD Dave Hart, Sr.

Castiglione is active on a conference and national level. He is currently serving on the Board of Directors for the Collegiate Women Sports Awards, formerly the Honda Award, and is a board member of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame. He served two terms as chair of the Big 12 Board of Athletics Directors, completing his second in 1999-2000. He is past president of the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and NACDA. He served a four-year term on the NCAA Championship/Competition Cabinet and is a member of the NCAA Football Special Events Certification Committee. He also served a four-year term on the NCAA's Baseball Committee.

In 1989, Castiglione was founder of the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators, an organization he served four terms as president (1990-93). In 1997, he was honored by NACMA for his contributions to intercollegiate sports marketing. He was named to The Sporting News' Powers That Will Be List in 2000. Locally, he is a board member with the Cleveland County United Way and is an executive board member with the Jim Thorpe Association.

A native of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Castiglione was born Oct. 8, 1957. He is married to the former Kristen Bartel, a 1990 graduate of the University of Missouri. They are the proud parents of two sons, Joseph Robert, Jr., born on December 20, 1996, and Jonathan Edmund, born on March 21, 2000.

This 312% increase in annual giving is one of the highest percentage increases in intercollegiate athletics history.

Beginning in 1999, Hocutt served a leadership position in the strategic planning for the $100 million capital campaign, Great Expectations: The Campaign for Sooner Sports. This campaign was truly unique in that it focused on facility construction or improvements for each of OU's 20 sports. In ticketing, Hocutt has supervised the sale of 63 stadium suites, as well as the sale of 2,250 club seats and 5,000 chair back seats, resulting in $56 million of revenue at Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. With an emphasis on better organizing the alumni reunions with their respective sport team, Hocutt has supervised development of the Sooner Sports Reunion Program.
